HOW TO MAKE YOUR PROFILE STAND OUT

Crafting a standout resume doesn't have to be a headache! Whether you’re a student or a fresh grad, this guide - straight from the VNG Talent Acquisition team will help you catch a recruiter's eye.

📚 For Year 2–4 Students & Fresh Graduates

The Big4 Essential Sections of a Strong Resume

Every great resume needs a clear structure. Stick to these 4 sections to keep things professional and filler-free:

01 Personal Information

Keep it lean - only what recruiters need.

- ✓ Must have: Full name, phone, professional email
- ✓ Level up: LinkedIn profile + relevant links (GitHub, portfolio)
- ✓ Optional: Location
- ✗ Skip: Facebook links, marital status
- ✗ Informal: Selfies or inappropriate photos

02 Educational Background

Lead with your strongest credential

- ✓ The basics: University, major & expected graduation date
- ✓ The basics: GPA - optional once you have 1+ year experience
- ✓ The extras: Honours, dean's list, study abroad programs
- ✗ Note: High school details once you're in university
- ✗ Avoid: Overly detailed coursework descriptions

03 Professional Experience

Quality over quantity - be selective.

- ✓ What counts: Internships, part-time jobs, university projects
- ✓ The magic numbers: Use 3-5 achievement-driven bullet points per role
- ✓ For fresher: Use extracurricular activities to show leadership skills
- ✗ Cut out: Long duty lists that show no clear outcomes or results
- ✗ Never claim: Skills or experience you don't actually have

04 Skills / Additional

List tools you can actually demonstrate.

- ✓ Organize: Technical skills grouped by category so they are easy to read
- ✓ Proof: Include language certifications (IELTS, TOEIC, etc.)
- ✓ Proof: Awards and recognitions that prove your skills
- ✗ Avoid: Skill bar charts —> show skills through bullet points instead
- ✗ Skip: Vague or overly general descriptions of your training

The Formula That Gets Recruiters' Attention

Don't just list what you did, show how well you did it!
Use this formula to turn a boring duty into a measurable achievement:

Action Verb + Job Duty + Skills Used = Measurable Outcome

The “Before You Send” Checklist

Before you hit that “Apply” button, do a quick double-check Do & Don’t:

✕ SHOULD AVOID

Skip casual photos

Avoid selfies, vacation shots, or photos with inappropriate poses. If you include a photo, use a professional headshot with a neutral background.

Cut irrelevant information

Only include experience and skills RELEVANT to the role. Remove: hobbies unrelated to the job, high school details, Facebook links, and personal info.

Ditch skill bars

These look decorative but mean nothing to a recruiter. Instead, prove your skills through bullet points that show real results.

Never fake it

Never claim skills or experience you don't have. If discovered during background checks or interviews, this immediately blacklists you from the hiring process.

✓ SHOULD DO

Save as PDF with a clear filename

Always export as PDF to preserve formatting across devices. Name it professionally: e.g., NguyenVanA_Resume_VNG.pdf, so recruiters can find it easily.

Keep it concise: 1-2 pages max

Use readable font sizes (10-12pt body), consistent margins, and enough white space. Prioritize your strongest experiences at the top of each section.

Link your work

Add your LinkedIn URL, GitHub, or online portfolio if applicable. These extend your story beyond what fits on one page and show initiative.

Proofread - then proofread again

Spelling errors are an instant red flag for any recruiter. Read it aloud, use spell-check, and ask a friend or family member to review before submitting.

LinkedIn Profile Tips for Students

In addition to a solid resume, a complete and well-optimized LinkedIn profile can significantly help you stand out.

01 Complete Your Profile

A 100% complete profile earns LinkedIn's algorithm reward - dramatically more views from recruiters.

02 Customise Your URL

Replace the random default with linkedin.com/in/yourname for a cleaner resume link.

03 Add a Professional Photo

Profiles with photos get far more views. Use a clear headshot with a neutral background.

04 Write a Strong Headline

Don't just say 'Student at X.' Show your passion and the value you bring - this is your hook.

05 Showcase Experience Like CV

Use the same formula: Action Verb + Duty + Outcome. Consistency builds trust.

06 Add Education & Skills

List degree, major, graduation year, and key skills. LinkedIn uses this to match you to roles.
